Opportunity to help one of our own

A few years ago, if you had told me that there was a pair of glasses that could help me see clearly again, I would not have believed you. It is hard to comprehend that it has finally happened, but the technology of eSight glasses can give me what I have been dreaming of. All I want is to see the world as it sees me - clearly. I do not want eSight so that I can go on extravagant adventures and see the world. I have been blessed to see many great places while my sight was still 20/20. I was able to marry my husband, Marc, in 2009, and we were blessed with our handsome baby boy, Garrett, in 2012. However, my vision greatly deteriorated after that. Now, my son is a blur as he runs around a playground, and I cannot make out my husband's face from across the kitchen, but I know how they are supposed to look. The "slideshows" in my mind's eye are crystal clear.

I need eSight so that I can restore living a life the way that it was meant to be lived. I want to be able to experience simple things that people take for granted - watching a movie with my husband or reading any book my son chooses to him. I felt as though I lost my freedom when my doctor told me I should not drive anymore, but what I have found is the freedom to see and be a part of my son's life is so much more important.
