Exclusive Invitation for your Family to attend a Google Family Safety Workshop April 23 from 6:00 – 8:00 pm

National PTA has partnered with several internet and social media providers to host events across the country, creating a safe space for parents to talk about their digital safety concerns and learn from experts in the field about what they can do to support their families in creating safer communities online. Georgia PTA believes that this is an important conversation, we will be hosting a Family Safety Workshop in Atlanta in partnership with Google and National PTA at the Google offices on April 23rd.

At this event, you'll learn about what you can do to keep yourself and your family safer online, what Google, the PTA, and other organizations are doing, and also have some fun at a Google office. For those who need to bring their children, we will have a separate space for children to explore online safety games and other resources during the workshop so the parents can gather together separately. Food, drinks, and other goodies will be provided.
